

NEW COAL MINE CONTRACT DRAFTED

SENATORS TRY TO SIDETRACK WALKOUT BILL

TRUMAN URGED TO ABANDON DRAFT MEASURE

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Two senators friendly to President Truman were reported tonight to have urged him to withdraw his strike-draft legislation if an expected early settlement of the coal strike materializes.

The president was visited during the afternoon by Senators Wheeler (D-Mont.) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), who were closely associated with him when he was in the senate.

Although they declined to comment on their conference, persons in a position to know said the two westerners urged Mr. Truman to ask congress to abandon the proposal which the house passed by a 306 to 13 vote last Saturday after the president had addressed a joint session of congress.

House Out On Limb
Wheeler and O'Mahoney, both candidates for reelection of this year, have voiced open opposition to a provision of the bill which would permit the president to induct persons who declined to stay on the job or return to work after the government had taken over industries.

There was no immediate reaction to their reported request. But senators familiar with the situation pointed out that it might be difficult for Mr. Truman to scuttle even after the coal dispute was settled, a bill passed so overwhelmingly by the house.

Although some felt this would leave house members who voted for it out on a limb, others said that a statement by Mr. Truman that the legislation is not needed any more would help to take them off the limb.

Deadlock Possible
A bipartisan senate bloc, gathering strength in snowball style, threatened tonight to—

1. Deny President Truman power to draft striking workers;
2. Sharply modify his general request for economic emergency authority; and

3. Deadlock congress until the nation's strike crisis has passed.

The death of 88-year-old Senator Carter Glass (D-Va) brought a day's lull in the hot debate on the chief executive's requests. The senate recessed after 21 minutes of tributes to the venerable Virginia lawmaker. Coincidentally the house had set apart this day to mourn its dead of the past year.

Thus, such foes of stringent labor legislation as Senator Pepper (D-Fla) were given 24 hours of additional time in their desperate effort to stem the flow of legislation to the White House. This buttressed their hopes of preventing final passage before John L. Lewis vows his coal miners back to the pits.

Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of interior, called President Truman's legislative request "the heaviest blow ever struck in America against fundamental rights of labor and the democratic traditions of our country."

Vandenberg Calls Huddle
Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the senate Republican conference, called the G.O.P. members into a huddle, apparently in an effort to solidify the minority party's opposition to the labor-draft authority even on a limited basis.

Meanwhile, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) drafted a series of amendments, said by a special senate minority committee, would be laid before the conference. These, in

Governor Dedicates Memorial Day To 'National Morality'

Lansing, May 28 (AP)—Governor Kelley today urged the people of Michigan to work for a national morality which would be an example to the rest of the world in his Memorial Day proclamation.

The proclamation reads: "Since the Civil War, after which it was originally designated, Memorial Day has been solemnly dedicated to those who, in that and subsequent wars, have given their last measure of devotion to our country."

"Just as the urgent task then was to complete the unfinished task which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced, so the even greater imperative before our nation today is to prove ourselves worthy of the kind of peace the sacrifices of our protectors have made possible."

"It is not enough, on this Memorial Day in 1946, that we publicly express our humble gratitude, or demonstrate our patriotic compassion for our heroic dead. We can offer most to the memory of those who fought and fell in our service by a rededication to those principles and ideals they gave their all to perpetuate."

"With hate and fear rampant in the world and political and economic turmoil at home again threatening 'One nation indivisible', it is incumbent upon each of us to order our every day lives to bring about a state of national morality—a spiritual regeneration—so essential if we are to continue our nation's role of example to the last best hope of mankind everywhere."

"Therefore, I, Harry F. Kelley, Governor of Michigan, do hereby proclaim Thursday, May 30, 1946, as Memorial Day in Michigan, and urge our citizens, as they participate in the commemorative services, to solemnly reflect upon the true significance of its observance."

JOB SENIORITY ISSUES SETTLED

Back Pay For Men Laid Off To Be Claimed By UAW-CIO

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers - CIO, commenting upon a United States supreme court decision against seniority in job rights of veterans, declared today it would claim back pay for all employees, veterans or non-veterans, laid off out of line with their job seniority in relation to the court's decision.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, described the supreme court's decision as "a victory in the long fight by labor and unions to guarantee veterans' real job security" and added that it "upholds our interpretation."

"The 6 to 1 decision by the supreme court settles the issues which have been in dispute ever since Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, issued his interpretation of the reemployment provisions of the selective service act," Reuther said.

The Hershey interpretation issued to all selective service boards held that under the act a war veteran was entitled to his old job for a year even though this would require the laying off of a non-veteran worker with greater seniority.

France Is Extended $1,370,000,000 U. S. Loan For Recovery

Washington, May 28 (AP)—The United States extended a $1,370,000,000 credit to France tonight to help her begin a four-year reconstruction program.

Leon Blum, chief French negotiator, signed a comprehensive economic and financial agreement with Secretary of Treasury Fred Vinson and Secretary of State Byrnes. The ceremony at the state department climaxed 11 weeks of negotiations.

President Truman and President Felix Gouin of France announced conclusion of the financial conversations in a joint statement released simultaneously in Washington and Paris.

The American credit was divided in two portions:

1. A direct loan of $650,000,000 from the export-import bank.
2. A line of credit totaling $720,000,000 which would permit the French to settle their lend-lease account and to purchase United States Army and Navy surplus now in France and in French overseas territories.
In addition, the United States promised to grant France "additional credit" with which she could purchase approximately 750,000 tons of American-owned merchant shipping.

PEACE NEARING FOR MANCHURIA

Truce Promoting Group Arrives In Nanking For Conferences

BY JOHN RODERICK

Nanking, May 28 (AP)—Hopes of early peace in Manchuria mounted buoyantly today as a truce-promoting delegation of the Third Party Democratic League arrived in this Chinese capital for talks with government and Communist leaders.

"We are very hopeful of a peace settlement," Dr. Carson Chang, league leader, told the Associated Press.

He added that hostilities in the vast northeastern territory already had "virtually stopped," and that the Communists seemed willing to conclude peace.

There was yet no Communist reaction, however, to terms reportedly laid down by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as prerequisite to a truce agreement. Nor had the Communists replied to a government news agency statement of three conditions for resumption of peace talks.

Chiang was reported to have notified General Marshall, U. S. special envoy to China, that the Communists must recognize government sovereignty in Manchuria and help restore its communications as a condition to new peace talks.

Cobb And Oldfield Return To Detroit For Golden Jubilee

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—Ty Cobb and Barney Oldfield were back today in the familiar Detroit settings where they gained renown in the world of sports. Cobb, looking almost as spry as he did when he burned up American League base paths, and Oldfield, famed racing car driver, headed a galaxy of celebrities who swarmed into the city to take part in the Auto Industry's Golden Jubilee.

Cobb, now 59 and a resident of Atherton, Calif., spent 25 years in the major leagues, 22 of them with the Tigers and established an all-time record for stolen bases—596. Oldfield, who came here from his Beverly, Calif., home, chatted with newsmen about his racing days, which centered mainly on the years after the turn of the century.

Asked why he had come to Detroit, Oldfield grinned. "Oh, I'm just one of those relics they resurrect from time to time."

Strike Of Brewery Workers Threatens

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—Representatives of 1,500 Detroit brewery workers today decided to file a 30-day notice of intent to strike.
John Sheperak, secretary of the joint executive board of the Brewery Workers of America (CIO), said the action followed breakdown of wage and contract negotiations.
Sheperak also said he was instructed to file with the National Labor Relations Board charges that the brewery managements had failed to bargain in good faith.

War Hero, 27, Held In Matricide Case, Hangs Self In Jail

Cambridge, Ill., May 28 (AP)—Richard E. Younggren, 27-year-old Kewanee war hero, hanged himself today, Sheriff Byron Price said, in his Henry county jail cell where he was awaiting trial on a charge of murdering his mother with a hammer.

The youth was to be tried next month on a charge of slaying his mother, Mrs. Henry Younggren, 50, in the kitchen of her home on April 23 while she was preparing his breakfast.

Mrs. Younggren was killed with a bricklayer's hammer. The youth had been cleaning mortar from bricks as part of a mental therapy outlined by physicians at Mayo General hospital, Galesburg, where he was taking treatment after suffering severe head injuries in an automobile accident Feb. 1. Authorities said he could offer no motive for the assault.

Younggren was a lieutenant (j. g.) in the Coast Guard, and was cited for gallantry as commander of a submarine chaser during three invasions.

Walgreens Acquire Stores In Mexico

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—Walgreen Drug Stores today confirmed a previous report made last week from Mexico City that they had bought Sanborn's, a department store chain with outlets in Mexico City and Monterrey, Mexico.

C. R. Valgreen Jr., president of the company, said the transaction would be completed next month when audit verification is expected to be concluded. Capitalization was expected to be 13,000,000 ($2,600,000), and annual American dollar volume runs to about $4,000,000, he added.

'Rebel' Senator Glass Dies In Sleep At 88

BY WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Washington, May 28 (AP)—The nation's capital put its pressing problems aside today to do homage to an elder statesman, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who died in his sleep shortly before 3 a. m. at the age of 88.

Death came to Glass in his apartment at the Mayflower Hotel, ending a half century public career embracing service in congress and as secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson.

The funeral service will be held at 3 p. m. on Thursday at Lynchburg, Va., where Glass, as a country editor, began a study of national fiscal problems which became his particular specialty in congress.

Through application to this field, he probably had as much influence on banking and monetary legislation as any man of his time. He sponsored the Federal Reserve act of 1913 and was known as the "Father of the Federal Reserve System."

To the public at large, however, Glass was probably better known for pungent speeches in political battles and in congressional debate.

He differed strongly with the late President Roosevelt over the

PETRILLO CALLS STRIKE IN RADIO

Fiery Head Of AFL-AM Says He's Ready To Face The Music

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—James C. Petrillo called a strike at a Chicago radio station today, and U. S. District Attorney J. Albert Wolf immediately started an investigation to determine whether the Lea law had been violated.

The fiery president of the AFL-American Federation of Musicians called three studio record librarians off the job at Radio Station WAAF, and told reporters he "expected prosecution" and was "ready to face the music."

Petrillo said he called the strike because the station had refused to employ three additional librarians.

The Lea bill, enacted last April and sometimes called the "anti-Petrillo" law, provides up to one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any union which compels or attempts to compel broadcasters to hire more employees than are needed "to perform actual service."

Attorneys for the radio station immediately arranged a conference with Wolf, who announced he would prosecute the Musicians' Union chief if any violation of the law was shown.

Petrillo said he and his union were "committed to the absolute policy of utilizing all energies and resources to resist this vicious (Lea) law, unless and until we are told by the supreme court of the United States that the Bill of Rights and the abolition of slavery do not apply to American musicians, and that I do not believe the United States supreme court will ever do."

Fugitive American Shot By Troops In Bavarian Village

Heidelberg, Germany, May 28 (AP)—U. S. troops killed a fugitive American soldier, wounded another and captured two more in a one-sided gun battle in a Bavarian village Sunday, Third Army headquarters said today.

An order for a grand jury investigation followed, with Judge Murphy appointed as its head by fellow judges of the Wayne county circuit bench.

Today, before approving a grand jury request for $100,000 for investigation, the Wayne county board of supervisors called in Judge Murphy for comment.

"In the light of what I know now," Judge Murphy said, "it is just peanuts in view of the overall picture."

The foundation commended the state liquor control commission "for a determined effort in their most difficult task" and members pledged support to the commission.

Susquehanna River On Rampage; 10 Dead Damage In Millions

(By The Associated Press)

Waters of the surging Susquehanna river crested at 30 feet 10 inches at Williamsport last night (Tuesday), 3.5 feet above flood level, relieving one of the communities hit hardest by a flood which spread over south-central New York and north-central Pennsylvania, taking at least ten lives and causing thousands of dollars of property damage.

Elmira, New York community of 50,000, also reported the Chemung river dropping at the rate of one foot every three hours, with three feet left in the downtown section.

George Lamade, publisher of the Williamsport Grit, reported late last night the situation in that community of approximately 43,000 was under control and local disaster agencies are able to handle all relief.

The Red Cross chapter in Williamsport reported from 1,000 to 1,200 persons were furnished relief and temporary shelter in three junior high schools.

R. F. Williamson of the Grit said the conditions in Williamsport were not as bad as previously reported. Public utilities were maintained and no lives were lost in the city, he said.

Property damage will not reach the figures reported for the 1936 flood, Williamson said.

West of Williamsport the river also crested at Lock Haven, Jersey Shore and Renovo, Pa.

The Chemung river, four feet above flood stage at its mid-afternoon peak of 21 feet, flowed over a third of Elmira, virtually inundating the area and disrupting utilities. Showers halted briefly after a 46-hour downpour, then resumed.

All but one of the highways into Elmira were closed. The Coast Guard in New York said radio men, trucks and portable radios for use in boats were being sent to handle emergency communications.

The army released "ducks"—amphibious trucks—for food relief at Williamsport.

Red Cross chapters in Philadelphia, Reading and Bethlehem, Pa., were reported packed and ready to go if additional aid is asked in north-central Pennsylvania.

JUDGE TIES UP AFL TEAMSTERS

Grant Of $100,000 For Grand Jury Called 'Just Peanuts'

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—The grand jury investigation of the AFL-Teamsters' organizing drive in the food industry was financed today by a grant of $100,000, a sum which Grand Juror George E. Murphy called "just peanuts."

Circuit Judge Murphy, who sits as a one-man grand jury in the inquiry, at the same time made permanent an injunction forbidding the Teamsters' Union from carrying on any organizing activities against which independent merchants had protested.

Several weeks ago the Teamsters and Allied Unions had set out to organize Detroit's 7,000 grocery stores and meat markets, clerks and owners included, leading to charges of "monopoly" and restraint of trade. Merchants sued the union for $500,000 damages.

An order for a grand jury investigation followed, with Judge Murphy appointed as its head by fellow judges of the Wayne county circuit bench.

Today, before approving a grand jury request for $100,000 for investigation, the Wayne county board of supervisors called in Judge Murphy for comment.

MAJOR POINTS SETTLED WITH JOHN L. LEWIS

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Further negotiations between Secretary of the Interior Krug and John L. Lewis failed to produce a settlement of the soft coal strike tonight but progress was reported.

With the two reported in a stalling agreement on all major points of new contract, they conferred for 52 minutes tonight and then recessed until tomorrow morning, the hour not fixed.

"It's the same old word—nothing to say," Lewis told reporters afterwards.

Asked whether the picture is "dark or bright," he replied that "the secretary will have to advise you on that."

Krug had told of progress as the session started, but had made it clear he did not expect any settlement tonight.

Loaded Cars Frozen
Progress also was reported to President Truman when Krug and Lewis conferred with him before their night meeting.

The government meanwhile created an emergency stockpile of coal by "freezing" all loaded cars at the idle mines.

The order is similar to the one issued March 23 just before the strike started and which provided a pool of approximately 1,650,000 tons for emergency use.

The Solid Fuel Administration, which issued the order, estimated that "a few thousand cars" of coal now are loaded at mines which are not producing.

This coal now will be released only by SFA orders to public utilities, railroads, hospitals, food processing plants and other essential consumers.

Krug and Lewis spent 34 minutes with Mr. Truman. Afterwards Secretary Charles G. Ross announced that "progress was reported by both sides."

Wage Scale Outlined
Asked whether Mr. Truman was pleased at the principals' report, Ross replied that "naturally the president is pleased at progress toward settlement of any industrial dispute."

An official who may not be named had reported earlier that agreement was reached at that stage on a new wage scale which would follow the pattern of an 18½ cent increase in basic hourly pay and which, with overtime provisions, would net the miners $59.95 for a 45-hour week compared with their present $63.50 for a 54-hour week. The pact still, however, was subject to change.

Krug and Lewis had started conferences today at 2:15 p. m. with one minor detail reported to be holding up the settlement.

Before they met for what seemed the final stage of negotiations, Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said he had talked with parties on both sides and understood they "are in agreement on principles for settlement."

"I feel confident that unless something very unforeseen occurs," he told a reporter shortly before noon, "the coal strike will be settled and announcement of

Michigan Jobless Draw $150,114,837
Lansing, May 28 (AP)—Unemployed industrial workers and returning servicemen were paid $150,114,837 in compensation benefits by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission from V-E day to April 30.

The report said 396,636 workers received $110,931,650 and 219,637 veterans received $39,183,229 in readjustment allowances.

The commission's report said that the State Unemployment Trust Fund remained in "a healthy condition" despite the heavy volume of unemployment during the reconversion period.

On April 30 there was $228,699,909 in the trust fund, a 17 per cent reduction from the $275,613,696 on hand a year ago.

Temperance Group Protests Use Of Grain For Whisky

Lansing, May 28 (AP)—A protest against the use of any grain for manufacturing alcoholic beverages "during the present food emergency" was entered today by the Michigan Temperance Foundation.

A resolution adopted by the foundation urged "prompt action by the federal government and UNRRA to obtain any stocks of grain now in distillery and brewery warehouses for use as food, to prevent starvation in famine-threatened nations."

The foundation commended the state liquor control commission "for a determined effort in their most difficult task" and members pledged support to the commission.

VAN WAGONER VISITOR HERE

Talks With Democratic Party Members At Noon Luncheon

Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic candidate for governor in the June 18 primary, and former governor of Michigan, yesterday noon conferred with party members from Delta and adjacent counties at a noon luncheon at the Delta hotel. J. Clyde McGonagle, Delta county prosecuting attorney, presided at the meeting.

Van Wagoner, who served as governor in 1941 and 1942, is now engaged in the practice of civil engineering at Detroit. He also has other business interests. Prior to his election in 1940 he was state highway commissioner.

Now on a pre-primary campaign tour of the Upper Peninsula, Van Wagoner met with Democratic organization members at Powers and Norway yesterday afternoon, and spent last night at Iron Mountain. He began his tour at Sault Ste. Marie Monday night.

"I urge the veterans and others to get out and register and vote. Remind them they have only two more days to register if they have not already done so," Van Wagoner said as his only public statement.

Today the Democratic candidate for nomination will visit Crystal Falls, Iron River, Wakefield, Bessemer and Ironwood. Tomorrow he will be in the Copper Country and end the day at Marquette. Friday he will visit Munising at 9:30 a. m., St. Ignace at noon, and then return to Detroit.

Spartans May Be Admitted To Big 10 At Spring Session

East Lansing, May 28 (AP)—A three-man Michigan State college delegation left today for the Western Conference spring meeting in Champaign, Ill., but none of the trio would comment on M. S. C.'s chances of being admitted to the Big Ten.

The Spartans made formal application to join the Conference last winter and have been mentioned as likely prospects to fill the vacancy created when the University of Chicago announced its intention of leaving the Conference.

Representing Michigan State at the annual spring meeting will be Athletic Director Ralph H. Young, Head Football Coach Charley Bachman and Sports Publicity Director Nick Kerbawy.

Said Young: "We're just going down to attend the spring meeting and possibly arrange a few football games for the 1947 season. Of course we'd be happy if the Conference would act favorably on our request for admission, but our presence at the meeting will not be irregular. We've always attended the Big Ten meetings."

Michigan State is the only institution to have formally requested Big Ten membership. The University of Pittsburgh last week made an informal application while the University of Nebraska and Notre Dame have also been mentioned as possible successors to Chicago.

Man Shortage Hits U. S. With 6,000,000 Women As Surplus

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 28 (AP)—The man shortage, from a matrimonial viewpoint, is critical and growing worse with a surplus of 6,000,000 marriageable-age women in prospect for the United States for the next ten years," Dr. Clifford R. Adams, director of the marriage counseling service of Pennsylvania State college, declared today.

"So far the unmarried woman has not been such a terrific problem in the south," Dr. Adams asserted in an interview. "You do not have a proverbial southern pinstriped man for instance in New England. But the New England divorce rate is low—once the women there get husbands they hang on to them. And the women in this section had better be taught to select husbands intelligently and hang on, too."

"These 6,000,000 surplus women are going to be an added menace to marriage—don't think they are going to sit idly by and watch the lucky ones who have husbands and children. The 'other woman' is going to make herself more attractive than ever and the old 'triangle' situation is going to be intensified. The wives can't be complacent."

Geological Surveys Planned In Upper Peninsula Counties

Lansing, May 28 (AP)—Northern peninsula counties will be the site of two surveys of Michigan geological formations to be made this summer, the state conservation department said today.

One survey will take up the geology of the west end of the Marquette Iron Range in western Marquette and Beraga county and other survey will be made near Hesperia in the gold area near Ropes mine.

MAJOR POINTS SETTLED WITH JOHN L. LEWIS

the settlement made within the next 48 hours."

Two Welfare Funds

The agreement, as authoritatively reported at present, calls for: 1. An increase of the basic hourly pay from $1 to $1.135, as the operators had virtually agreed six days before the strike started on April 1. The work week would be five nine-hour days for 45 hours, with time and one-half for overtime to be paid after 35 hours. Under the old contract the miners worked six nine-hour days.

2. Two separate health and welfare funds. One would be financed by the operators at five cents a year, yielding about $25,000,000 annually, and administered by three trustees—one selected by the operators, one by the union and the third by the other two. The other fund, financed by the miners through payroll deductions, would be administered entirely by the union.

3. The controversy over unionization of foremen would be settled by following procedures for supervisory employees set forth in a recent decision of the National Labor Relations Board.

4. The Federal Bureau of Mines would set up safety standards to which the entire industry would conform.

5. A survey of sanitation and housing facilities would be made by a well known naval officer assisted by the Public Health Service in an effort to set up standards.

A four-man delegation from the United Mine Workers showed up without Lewis in the forenoon and spent 20 minutes in Krug's office with Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, Krug's deputy as government administrator of the bituminous mines. Krug's spokesmen said the unionists called Moreell's attention to "a couple of incidents" in which the miners claimed discrimination during the week of federal control.

Krug, as federal administrator, was empowered by President Truman to work out a new contract with Lewis, but it would have to be approved by the operators before the government could relinquish control. The producers' negotiating committee and other operators are standing by here.

Regardless of their attitude toward the prospective settlement, however, its acceptance by the union apparently would send the miners back to work as long as the government maintained the contract in effect. The mines have been idle since the strike "truce" expired Saturday despite the government operation. The miners traditionally declined to work with a contract.

Siamese Complain To United Nations Of French Seizure

BY LARRY HAUCK

New York, May 28 (AP)—Siam complained to the United Nations tonight that French Colonial troops from Indo-China crossed the Mekong River May 24, 25 and 26 and "forcibly seized Siamese territory which they continue to hold."

A cablegram from Prime Panyomyong, president of the Siamese council of ministers, to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie said the incidents "must be considered concerted action against Siamese sovereignty and the preservation of peace."

The cable said: "On 24, 25 and 26 May, French troops crossed the Mekong River and forcibly seized territory which they continue to hold. These attacks must be considered concerted action against Siamese sovereignty and the preservation of peace."

"The population in the attacked and adjacent areas are abandoning their homes and rice fields at a time when my government are striving to the utmost to fulfill their obligation to produce and deliver the maximum quantity of rice to the famine stricken areas."

EUROPEAN AUTO RACER INJURED

Indianapolis Speedway Contestant Crashes Into Wall

BY DALE BURGESS

Indianapolis, May 28 (AP)—Rudi Caracciolo, 50, of Berne, Switzerland, European auto racing champion, was injured when his car crashed into a wall as he was coming out of the southwest turn at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway late today.

Physicians at Methodist hospital said Caracciolo was still unconscious when he arrived there. They said they could not tell immediately how seriously injured he was.

Although several wrecks have occurred this year, Caracciolo was the first to suffer injuries. Witnesses said Caracciolo apparently came out of the turn too low and, while attempting to correct the error, the car skidded along the retaining rail and a wheel caught on a post. The front axle sheared off and the driver was thrown clear.

The car was owned by Joe Thorne of Hollywood, Calif. Gigi Villorosi of Milan, Italy, qualified for the starting field today in a new eight-cylinder Maserati at a speed of 121.249 miles an hour, considered good for a stranger to the brick and asphalt track.

Danny Kladis of Chicago, first to qualify today, drove a Grancor V-8 Special at an average of 118.890 miles an hour. Frank Wearne, 32, of Pasadena, Calif., was next when he piloted a four-cylinder rear-drive car at an average of 121.233 miles an hour.

Mel Hansen, 35, of Fontana, Calif., became the thirtieth qualifier when he drove his Ross Page Offenhauser Special, a four-cylinder rear-drive machine, at an average of 121.433 miles an hour.

War Baby Deaths Traced To Virus Unknown In U. S. A.

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Rep. Jackson (D-Wash.) said today that the war department informed him that the deaths of eight servicemen's babies on the battleship Zeblun B. Vance had been traced to a virus disease known as "pneumo enteritis" which had never occurred among humans in this country before.

The representative, saying his army sources did not wish to be quoted, added that the disease had been traced to "one woman, with her baby, who boarded the ship in an undernourished condition."

The disease, Jackson said, was very deadly, and there was no known cure for it. He said it had been found in cattle in this country, especially in calves, but never in humans. It is highly communicable, he added.

It affects both the lungs and the intestinal tract, he said.

Yesterday Jackson asked for a war department inquiry into the deaths aboard the army transport, bringing war brides and their children to this country from Le Havre. An Army board of inquiry today absolved the ship's medical staff of "negligence or misconduct" in connection with the deaths.

Tom Charland Gets Big Rainbow Out Of Whitefish Tuesday

Thomas J. Charland, 312 South 15th street, Escanaba, is the angler who has entered the current king of the rainbow class in the Daily Press fishing contest, a ten pound beauty that he caught on Tuesday morning in the Whitefish river. The fish was 29½ inches in length and 15½ inches in girth. Charland was casting a homemade spoon when the big fellow hit.

The fish is the largest of five rainbows all over 20 inches in length that Charland has landed so far this year. In naming the stream Charland was sure he wasn't giving his favorite fishing holes away for he said, "You can catch big rainbows anywhere from the mouth to miles above Trenary on the Whitefish."

Charland would not compare the fishing on the Whitefish with the Escanaba except to state that he finds that trout out of the Escanaba, "seem to taste better, sweeter. It must be something they eat."

general, would modify the terms of the emergency labor bill rushed through the house with less than an hour's debate last Saturday.

Among other things, the emergency bill would authorize the government to take over vital industries closed by strikes, provide jail terms for union leaders who decline to call off walkouts and make recalcitrant workmen subject to induction into the army.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky), anxious for swift passage, told newsmen that he would hold the senate in night sessions when it resumes at 11 a. m. tomorrow. But the opposition remained equally adamant in their determination to talk on—all night, if necessary, to block the bill's passage this week.

Lindquist Body Found In Lake

Newberry—The death of John Lindquist, 59, patient of the Newberry State Hospital was declared by coroner, doctors and state police as suicide.

Lindquist's body was found in Hamilton Lake, near Newberry and the State Hospital, Sunday afternoon.

Sgt. John E. Pennala of the State Police said today that the man apparently wandered off from the hospital grounds after supper Saturday. He had ground privileges and was a trusted person.

When he failed to return at check-time, 8 p. m., some concern was felt for him.

A search was started Sunday. The body was discovered in the afternoon.

The man had tied a handkerchief in a loop and twisted the loop around his hands, behind his back, and then presumably dived into the lake from a pier. His head struck either a barrel or a post, causing lacerations. The lacerations and the circumstance of the handkerchief led to suspicion at first that foul play might have been involved.

It was definitely established that the man died by drowning and the lacerations and handkerchief were explained to the satisfaction of the authorities.

The body was taken to the State Hospital in a conservation department truck driven by Dick Beach and accompanied by State Trooper Mickey Mongiat.

Lindquist was a native of Bark River, Mich. He was born February 22, 1886.

Forest Service Has 39 Sites For Rent On Inland Lakes

Summer home sites in groups on the shores of Crooked and Steuben lakes in the Hiawatha National Forest are now available for rental from the U. S. Forest Service under a program which is just being established in this area, it was announced yesterday by Paul Wohlen, forest supervisor, of Escanaba.

There is a rental charge for the lots of $35 per year. Term permits for a period of 25 years will be issued for lots in the two groups, and the permit may be transferred at any time with the consent of the forest supervisor and upon payment of a $5 fee to cover the cost of making the transfer. Inquiries should be addressed to the forest supervisor at Escanaba.

Steuben and Crooked lakes are located in Schoolcraft county near Highway M-94 between Manistique and Munising. The lakes are attractive, with clear water and fair fishing.

The summer home group as planned for Crooked lake includes 19 lots, and the group for Steuben lake comprises 20 lots. Each lot has a frontage of 150 feet and is approximately 175 feet deep. Plans call for the construction of access roads. At both locations the shore is high and the beach is sandy. The lakes are two in a group of lakes and are close together. There are certain regulations which control use of the sites, including the construction of buildings of neat appearance, and their maintenance to a satisfactory standard. The person renting one of the summer home sites is not permitted to use it for commercial purposes.

Although there is now no electric line near the sites, it is reported that the REA may construct lines in that vicinity within a few years. Persons who rent summer home sites would have to drill their own wells to obtain drinking water.

Summer homes built on the lots would be the property of the individual, and could be sold or otherwise disposed of, but the land could continue in the ownership of the Forest Service under terms of the lease. The only time the property might be used for commercial purposes would be after permission has been sought and granted and the permit amended to include such use.

Although this is the first time that such group summer home site developments have been planned by the Forest Service in the Upper Peninsula, they have been popular in the west. Plans are now under way for such developments in the national forest along the shore of Whitefish Bay in Chippewa county near Brimley.

Those hard-earned stripes mean extra pay. Why throw them away? And your family will live comfortably if you enlist now and get the advantage of the family allowance benefit.

So think it over and act today. These two points mean opportunities for advancement and added pay as well as that all-important security for your family. Stop in at your nearest Regular Army Recruiting Station today. They'll give you all the information you want on that very important date... JUNE 30, 1946.

Improving the Army

THE recommendations made by the Doolittle board of soldiers to improve the morale of the U. S. Army and to erase the injustices that now exist in the officer-enlisted men relationship constitute a forward step in the reformation of the American Army. The next and most important step is to have the recommendations adopted by the war department.

The social discriminations that now exist between officers and enlisted men in the U. S. armed services are a disgrace to a nation that prides itself upon its democracy.

Certainly one of the most important recommendations advanced by the Doolittle board concerns the revision of the military judicial code. The board suggests that anything that is a crime for enlisted men should be a crime for officers and that penalties be increased in severity according to rank. Moreover, the board has proposed that enlisted men be allowed to serve on court martials, provided that they outrank the defendant. This is a rules change which, if adopted, would put the enlisted man's viewpoint into military judicial authority for the first time in the nation's history.

The substitution of a merit system in the promotion of officers for the seniority plan now in effect also has been favored by the Doolittle board and this proposal, too, is in accord with American principles.

If the war department will put into effect without undue delay the recommendations made by the special board of officers and enlisted men, it will have solved a substantial part of its problem of securing sufficient manpower for military requirements.

Another Train Wreck

THREE persons were killed and 30 Marines injured when a Pennsylvania railroad troop train was derailed near Harrisburg on Monday. The tragedy follows by a few weeks the train collision at Naperville, Ill., which was one of the worst railroad disasters in history.

During the same period, there have been a number of serious airline accidents, but these did not attract as much public attention. The reason probably is that railroad accidents have become unusual incidents in recent years, largely as a result of the effective safety program that has been conducted by the carriers.

The Naperville tragedy probably would have been averted if the Burlington had installed the inter-train radio communications system that it has been using on some of its freight runs. Other safety equipment, long in use but for some unexplainable reason not employed by the Burlington trains, also would have effected greater reduction of the travel hazards.

An outstanding safety record, achieved by the American railroads, has been somewhat marred of late. Shortage of help for track maintenance and other wartime difficulties may be the cause of some of the accidents. The recent misfortunes, however, should spur the carriers to redouble their safety efforts in the future, for safe travel is one of the advantages the railroads have intended to capitalize in meeting the competition offered by the airlines, private automobiles and buses.

Held Up by Cartons

DURING the past few weeks, Escanaba's new furniture plants have been held up in the shipping of their products because of the shortage of paperboard cartons.

This brings a national problem close to home. Most paperboard containers are produced from waste paper. During the war, old newspapers, magazines and other paper materials were collected in patriotic campaigns to provide containers for blood plasma and various military goods, urgently needed in the winning of the war.

With the nation's postwar reconversion program getting under way, the need for paperboard cartons and boxes is equally serious. Boy Scouts of Escanaba will conduct their second waste paper collection drive on June 1. Receipts from the sale of the salvaged paper will be used to finance the summer camp and other Scout activities. And the waste paper will find another vital use in the manufacture of paperboard containers, used for the packing and shipping of civilian goods to be produced in Escanaba and all over the country.

Advocates Highways

EXTENSION and improvement of the Upper Peninsula's highway system were advocated by Lt. Gov. Vernon J. Brown during his campaign tour for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

It is encouraging to note that Mr. Brown has pledged himself to aid the Upper Peninsula's tourist business. Such a promise will strike a responsive chord everywhere for there is much interest in the development of the recreational industry.

The tourist business ranks close to lumbering and mining in economic importance to the Upper Peninsula. During the war and even now, the heavy demand for wood products has cut deep inroads into our forests. We have had to dig deeper for the ore in our copper and iron mines, and it is a certainty that mining will decline rather than expand in the future.

So, we are left with the tourist business, an infant industry which has just begun to grow and has untold possibilities in the future. Our recreational resources cannot be taken from us, if we protect the woodland areas from fires as we have done in recent years. Good highways will be a great help in the development of the tourist business, and any candidate who pledges himself to wholeheartedly back such a program will receive warm support in the Upper Peninsula.

No Super Seniority

THE supreme court has finally settled a controversy that has been a stickler in labor relations for some time by its interpretation of the seniority provisions of the Selective Service act.

The court has ruled that the draft act does not give so-called "super seniority" to war veterans but merely protects the seniority that a veteran would have had in any plant if he had not gone off to war. The "super seniority" idea came from Gen. Hershey, head of Selective Service, who read that opinion in his interpretation of the draft law. It was immediately challenged by labor unions and by a number of employers. Under the super seniority philosophy an employer would be required to reemploy a war veteran, even if his reemployment necessitated the dismissal of a non-veteran employee with a considerable longer employment record.

The interpretation given to the Selective Service act by the supreme court is a sensible and reasonable one. It guarantees that the veteran will not have lost any of his work privileges by virtue of his military service, but at the same time it provides that the veteran has not accumulated any additional rights through military service.

WITCH HUNTING

(Wall Street Journal)
Some members of the House Ways and Means Committee, according to reports from Washington, are considering an investigation into the question of carry-back refunds of excess profits taxes paid in the past two years. They are, it is stated, alarmed at the possible size of these refunds as a result of the strikes now plaguing industry and halting reconversion.

That the losses of governmental revenues due to strikes already are important and bid fair to grow much larger may be readily admitted. Without minimizing the importance of carrybacks refunds, however, it should be stated that the available evidence suggests that the greater part by far of this loss will be due to shrinkage in tax receipts on current corporate income, not to refunds.

An investigation of carry-backs does not appear either necessary or justified. If undertaken it is likely to develop into a witch hunt to appease the labor unions who object to refunds of taxes as strengthening corporations, as of course they do and were intended to.

The carry-back provisions were embodied in the Revenue Code at the instigation of the Treasury and over the protests of business which wanted, instead, to set reserves during the war to take care of deferred war costs and the contingencies that always arise in the wake of a great conflict. The carry-back provisions were intended to take the place of such reserves, and, in the main, they probably do. But it cannot be emphasized too often that carry-back refunds can serve only to diminish losses or shrinkages of earnings, that they can never make up for lack of profits.

Labor union leaders in the past year or two have singled out the carry-back provisions for special attack. They have made statements on the subject that it would be polite to describe as exaggerated. We suggest that, if they think carry-back refunds are over-large, it is these gentlemen and not the law that is responsible. They have the remedy in their own hands.

Answer: The word congenial is formed from con-, "with, together," plus genial, "agreeable, jovial; cheerful." Hence, strictly speaking, congeniality is shared by two or more persons. In other words, if A. is genial, and B. is genial, they are likely to be congenial—"together-genial." Instead of asking of a congenial person, it is

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
Washington—Just twenty years ago, Great Britain had a general strike. It proved to be an almost unrelieved disaster for organized labor.

The railroad strike in this country was not intended to be a general strike. But if it had lasted only a short time longer, it would have shut down the nation's life as England was closed down in May of 1926.

The parallel between the two situations cannot be pushed too far. There are marked differences at every point. Both here and in Britain, however, the public reaction seems to have been strikingly similar.

The great middle class had not realized, until the shutdown came, what its stake was in this industrial warfare. The strife between labor and management had seemed rather remote—interesting and maybe important, but not directly related to the well-being of the average citizen. What industrial paralysis could mean came as a profound shock.

Kingsley Martin, editor of the New Statesman and Nation, published an extremely interesting study of attitudes during and after the great strike in England. He shows how the Tories, led by Winston Churchill, tried to scare the public into believing that the strike was led by revolutionists who wanted to overthrow the constitution and the government. They were not, of course, revolutionaries any more than A. F. Whitney and Alvanley Johnston mean revolution.

But the bulk of the news that got printed, in spite of the strike of press men, frightened Britain's middle class. In itself, the shutdown was an alarming phenomenon. Martin, a labor party socialist, comes out with an interesting conclusion:

"One important fact emerges from this story. It is clear that a general strike which aims at a limited objective and is not revolutionary can only succeed if it finds active sympathy among a considerable section of the middle classes."

That is a fact which Johnston and Whitney, to say nothing of John L. Lewis, completely ignored. In America, middle-class opinion is even more important than it is in England, where middle-class support was necessary to put a labor government in power.

Railroad engineers may have a just cause of grievance. Their wages may have been far too low. But so far as I have been able to discover, Johnston and Whitney never tried to present that case to the public at large. To the public they looked like two automatic, punchy old men who were saying no. And their no meant a shutdown of all essential services throughout the country.

The traditional leftist labor answer is that the "Capitalist Press" would not print labor's side. That is not good enough. Important avenues of communication are open in these days to reasonable men on any side of a dispute. If it came down to that, the engineers have a fat treasury and they could have adopted the current practice of hiring advertising space to tell their story. No newspaper would have dared to refuse them such space if that expedient had been necessary, which it was not.

The public was completely ignored. That is old-line unionism of the Gompers era. It simply is not good enough for these times. On top of this, as President Truman was careful to point out in his address to congress, Johnston and Whitney were only two railway brotherhood officials as against 18 who were willing to accept the arbitration award.

In Britain, after middle-class opinion was frightened or alienated, organized labor suffered bitter revenge. Workers who returned after the general strike found themselves subject to reprisals in spite of Prime Minister Baldwin's promise that there would be no vindictiveness.

A year later, in 1927, Parliament passed the trade union disputes act. That act applied penalties which set organized labor back many years, both politically and economically. Severe blow was the provision forbidding the trades union congress, central organization which would add up to a combined AFL and CIO, from blanketing in members of local unions. Local members were required to apply specifically for membership in the central organization.

In President Truman's temporary measure there are dangers. It is an ominous precedent. The real danger, however, is in the long-term program. If that is merely revenge, the cause of industrial peace will have been retarded.

more logical to use some other adjective, such as: genial, agreeable, pleasant, friendly.

From J. T. S., Houston: Please give the origin of the expression "to make a spiel." Answer: Spiel is German for "play, game, sport." The verb spielen (pronounced SHPEE-len) means, "to play, to act, to perform." Hence, by extension, to talk or make speeches, or, in the American vernacular, to sound off.

Merriam-Webster's lists the American use of spiel as "slang." But spiel in German is a quite proper word; therefore, there is no particular reason why its use in English should be regarded as slang. The so-called English language consists mostly of words borrowed from other languages. The origin of spiel is as respectable as hundreds of other German words which are accepted as proper in English usage.

IT'S A TREND—"Just about one more good war would put man in the kitchen"—another argument for peace," said Business Week, publication covering the field of business news, observes somewhat flippantly. And it adds: "Women comprise a little better than 32 per cent of today's employment."

which is the same thing) is no argument for peace. More wars have been started by bad kitchen management and resulting indigestion than from any other cause. Think, for instance, of the different course of events in world history had Hitler had the proper food and come under the refining influence of a good woman. But no, he had only Eva Braun and chronic stomach trouble. His reported habit of chewing rugs probably indicated a deficiency in his diet.

NO ARGUMENT—For Business Week to observe smugly that it's an argument for peace when men are threatened with permanent KP duty would be like saying that its argument for peace when women are more numerous exposed to unionism in the shops. The only argument for peace might be the tolerance men would learn through long association with dirty dishes, crying babies, and soiled linen.

It must have been a man who said "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." A woman would have been more realistic. She would have said: The hand that peels potatoes, scrubs the floor, washes clothes, makes the beds, plants the garden, feeds the dog, and (in many cases) pitches hay and milks the cows, tends the furnace, mends the clothes and rocks the cradle rules the world.

REFINING INFLUENCE—Perhaps there may be cause for alarm, at that—alarm on the part of men, at least. More and more women have been leaving the kitchen never to return, except in a gay mood to whip up a plate of fudge. Their places have been taken by the paid help who come in to do a job that lacks the inspiration mother used to put in an apple pie. No, there are few professional cooks who are able to turn out a masterpiece of a meal and at the same time take care of the rest of her household, as mother used to do.

It would be a refining and enlightening experience for man to take up his headquarters in the home for a long period of time. He would find that his outlook on life and the world in general would be considerably altered. First, he would learn that everything done in the household has a bearing upon the welfare and relationship of human beings—a factor which most of our statesmen seem to overlook in their occasional study of world affairs.

Second, he would learn tolerance and understanding—tolerance toward huffy tempers, and understanding of the causes of such displays. This is of great value to any diplomat.

Third, becoming tolerant and understanding, he would know what to do to correct intra-family disputes. This ability, if applied to the peoples of the world, would end much of the strife of the present and of the future.

IT'S EDUCATIONAL—if this leads inevitably to the conclusion that perhaps the world would be better off with more men in the kitchen, and more women in government, it is purely intentional.

For every "bad woman" in government in the past, you can point to thousands of "bad men". For every Catherine of Russia and Lucretia Borgia of Italy there are hundreds of man-monsters like Attila and Hitler, Alexander of Macedonia and Mussolini of Italy, Napoleon of France and Caesar of Rome.

And what of the modern world? Not one matriarch leader in government who sought war. Rather they spoke loudly for peace, while the governments dedicated to the subjugation of women and aggrandizement of men brought down upon the world a conflagration of destructive war.

No, if men had to spend a training period in the kitchen, the net result would be highly beneficial for civilization and the world. Compulsory military training? Not half so important.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Washington—Those who have sat in on the hectic closed-door conferences over the railroad strike report that it is hard to say who has been sorest at the prima donna tactics of "Brother" A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmen—government officials or the other Brotherhood leaders who are not striking but were thrown out of work by the trainmen and the locomotive engineers.

At one time probably the President of the United States was the most irked at the grandstanding Mr. Whitney. Truman even had difficulty getting Whitney to stay in Washington. He was constantly threatening to stage an opera exit to Cleveland without even bothering to advise the White House.

This brought a sharp tongue-lashing from the President during one of their meetings.

"What do you mean to do—walk out on the President of the United States?" Truman roughly inquired of "Brother" Whitney.

"No, sir," responded Whitney—and his voice lacked its usual brusqueness.

"Well, then you had better stay here until we get this thing settled and try to show a little more cooperation," snapped Truman.

—WHITNEY IN REVERSE—

Inside fact is that the disastrous railroad tie-up was close to settlement last Wednesday, the day before the five-day truce ended. Then, suddenly, the acrobatic Mr. Whitney reversed himself.

Whitney had tentatively agreed to settle on the basis of an 18½ cent-an-hour pay boost—two and one-half cents more than the President's fact-finding board proposed—with four rules changes over and above the 14 changes previously recommended by the board.

The additional rules changes demanded by Whitney were: (1) pay for railroad workers while attending investigations of accidents and other inquiries; (2) guarantee of 30 days a month (on the basis of 100 miles a day) work for road service employees; (3) pay bonuses for trainmen on freight trains pulled by higher-powered locomotives; (4) yard service engineers to be paid the same as freight engineers. The latter was demanded by Whitney's sidekick, Alvanley Johnston, boss of the engineers, sometimes compared to Whitney as "the whistle following the calloppe."

Steelman promised to take these rules changes up with the carriers and was most hopeful of getting their acceptance. He was even more hopeful after putting the matter up to carrier chiefs late in the day and finding some of them amenable.

However, he didn't reckon with the man who two years ago ridiculed the three other brotherhoods as "three blind mice" when they refused to arbitrate a rail strike, but who now has refused to arbitrate himself.

For when Whitney met Steelman again, the trainmen chief had a new set of terms, demanding 32 rules changes instead of 18 and still insisting on an 18½ cent hourly increase. Steelman is noted for his even temper in labor negotiations, but after listening to this ultimatum he had a tough time controlling himself.

"Al," he declared, "how do you expect to get a compromise if you go up instead of down in your demands? Yesterday you seemed agreeable to only four rule modifications in addition to those recommended by the emergency board. Now you want a total of 32."

"I have talked it over with my committee and that is the minimum we can agree to," replied Whitney.

"I wonder if you really want to settle this strike, Al," countered Steelman sharply. However, Whitney refused to budge from his new position.

NOTE—Stock complaint carrier spokesmen made against Whitney is that he continually "steps up" his demands during negotiations. Other Brotherhood leaders also criticize him for being too arbitrary in this respect. He considers every concession from the carriers a new "floor" on which to build further demands, according to his critics.

—NON-STRIKING BROTHERHOODS—

As was expected, the carrier spokesmen threw up their hands when Steelman informed them of the strike leader's amazing reversal. One of the three negotiating groups for the carriers, the Eastern President's Committee, led by H. A. Enoch, angrily informed Steelman that if Whitney wanted to act like this they wouldn't agree to any rules changes over and above the 18½ cent an hour straight wage increase.

Meanwhile, leaders of the three operating Brotherhoods that did not join in the strike—Tom Cashen of the switchmen and Carl J. Goff, assistant president of the firemen, who represented the conductors as well in the strike discussions—were meeting with Steelman and Carrier spokesmen on their own problems.

Bitterly resentful of Whitney's bulldozing tactics, which they considered antagonistic to the public interest and labor in general, Cashen and Goff readily agreed to the 18½ cent increase. It was understood, however, that rules changes would be further negotiated. And, since any rules alterations agreed to would affect all railway workers, the spokesmen for the three non-striking Brotherhoods demanded the right to approve whatever changes Whitney won. To this the Carriers agreed.

Iron Ore Starts Moving Here After Long Delay

Starting nearly two months later than last year, the long-delayed ore shipping season is finally under way, with between 200 and 300 carloads of ore coming to Escanaba daily from the Menominee range, it was reported here yesterday by Lee McMillan, North Western ore dock agent.

Labor troubles with strikes in the iron mines, caused the delay. The walkout of miners lasted more than 100 days, was ended first on the Menominee range and just recently in the Marquette range.

Last year to this time there had been 1,225,000 tons of ore shipped from Escanaba, compared with but two cargoes to yesterday. The first cargo of ore was carried by the C. C. Conway of the Hanna line, which cleared from Escanaba at 4:30 a. m. Monday. The Heekin of the same line cleared Monday noon, and the E. W. Mudge yesterday afternoon.

McMillan said that the LaBelle of the Hanna line was due in last evening and was expected to load and clear during the night. No boats are scheduled to dock today, but Thursday will bring three—the Hemlock and Sherwin of the Hanna line, and the Haggerty, owned by a Canadian line. Strikes on Canadian boats may delay the Haggerty.

Last year the first ore boat of the season cleared from Escanaba at 10 a. m. April 2. This year it was May 27 before ore was loaded at the North Western docks.

At Marquette the ore shipping season will open Sunday when the Benson Ford of the Ford Motor company fleet, arrives at the South Shore dock. It will be the first boat to enter Marquette harbor from the lower lakes this year, the latest opening of navigation there in history.

Early in the spring two cargoes of ore were loaded at Duluth and Superior, but that was the last movement of ore until the mine strike ended.

At Escanaba last week it was feared that the rail strike might still further delay the loading of ore. The strike ended, however, and the Conway loaded on schedule, with ore in her hold which had been temporarily tied up in the yards at Escanaba because it could not be moved to the docks.

Planned Tonight

The third dance in the student series at the Escanaba Youth Center will be held tonight with Ivan Kobasic's orchestra playing the musical program. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 o'clock. During intermission a student floor show will be presented. The party is for high school students and young people up to the age of 21.

The Youth Center is developing satisfactorily. A group of youngsters has done considerable redecorating of the interior of the building and much additional work is planned.

Administration of the program is being planned by a committee composed of six students from each of the two local high schools.

The selection of a proper name for the youth center is a current problem and anyone with suggestions is asked to present them to Don Ohman, chairman.

SIGLER COMES THIS MORNING

Candidate For Governor Making U. P. Tour By Plane

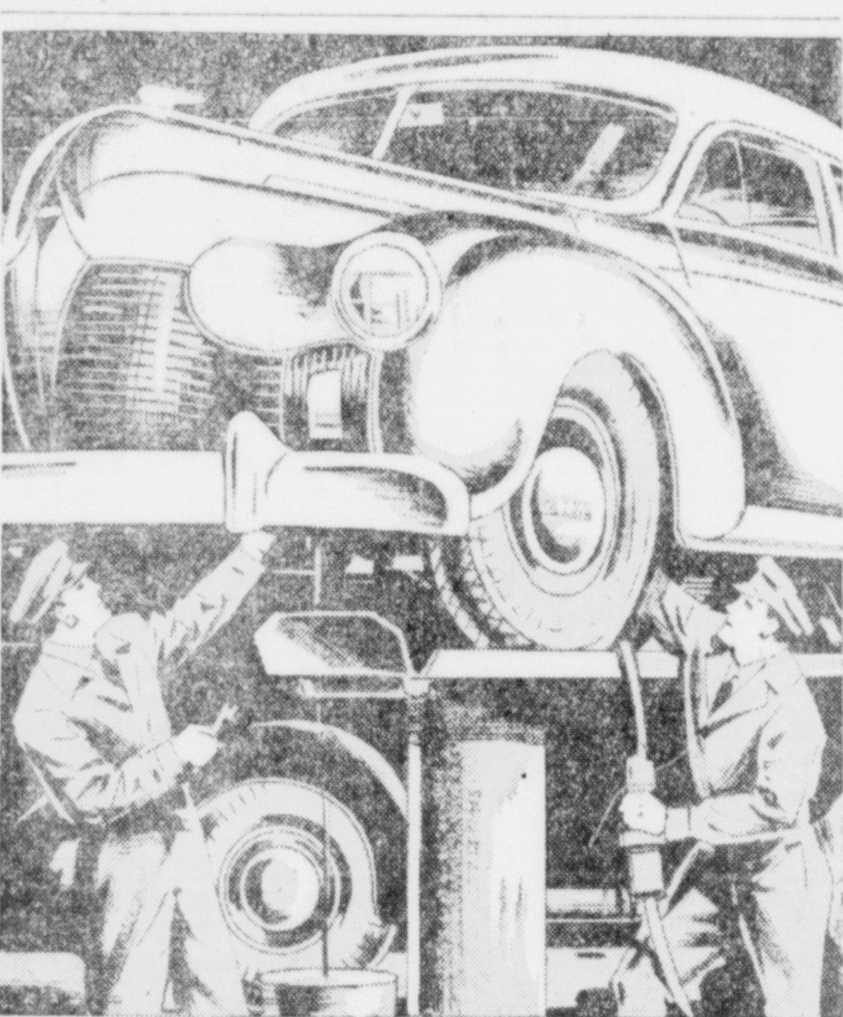

RETIREES — I. Oshins, well known Escanaba business man, yesterday announced his retirement from business in this city. He will remain in Escanaba and spend much of his leisure time on his farm, located on Highway M-35.

Mr. Oshins came with his father, the late Rudolph Oshins, to establish a wholesale clothing business here in 1914. Three years later, they opened the women's ready-to-wear shop at 806 Ludington street. Mr. Oshins said that the store will be leased and the remainder of the stock sold to a new operator, whose name will be announced within a few days.

Mr. Oshins also has operated a retail store in Iron Mountain several years. He plans to dispose of this business shortly.

Anderson funeral home, where it will be in state this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Thursday morning it will be removed to the family home at 1215 North 21st street, where it will remain in state until the hour of the funeral. Services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home, and at 2:30 o'clock at Bethany Lutheran church, the Rev. Gustav Lund officiating. Burial will be made in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

from the state sales tax revenues to meet operating expenses of schools in distress because of the 15-mill tax limitations, plus a revolving fund from which needy school districts may borrow to make improvements.

4. A state veterans' bonus.
5. Co-operation between labor and industry in which he stands "squarely for the enforcement of law and order" and in which "the public interest" will be his "sole concern."

Sigler has run for office on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, serving three terms as Democratic prosecutor of Barry county from 1922 to 1929. In 1942 he ran for the state senate as a Republican but was defeated.

Native of Nebraska

The silver haired, hawk nosed candidate was born 52 years ago on a Nebraska ranch and as a young man was a farm hand, cowboy, lumberjack, railroad construction worker and factory employe. He attended the University of Michigan and received his law degree from the University of Detroit in 1918.

An impeccable dresser, he denies the report he has 47 suits and 16 pairs of shoes. The number is far less, he says, and explains that most of his suits were part of his fee in a lawsuit in which a client was unable to reimburse him in cash.

Nevertheless his courtroom attire is often as spectacular as his tactics, which surprise opposing attorneys and often lead them into legal traps. On his campaign trips he dresses in conservative blue or black and seldom appears in his pearl-gray topcoat with black velvet collar.

Was Rotary Official

Sigler attained statewide prominence late in 1943 when Judge Carr appointed him special prosecutor after former Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton, who began the inquiry, withdrew.

Previously Sigler served as commissioner of the state bar and was district governor of Rotary International for western Michigan in 1937-38. In 1942 he left Hastings to enter a law partnership with Burritt Hamilton in Battle Creek, where Sigler now makes his home.

A member of the Methodist church, Sigler is married and has two daughters, Madelyn, a freshman at Michigan State college, and Mrs. Byron Slattery, wife of an army captain now stationed in Japan.

IMPROVED IMMEDIATE SURROUNDINGS—The view from the average fire tower is usually most enchanting. That from the Buck Hill tower, on the Adams Trail northeast of Shingleton, where much virgin timber may still be seen, probably has the most to present by way of vistas. But Mrs. Thomas Lewis, the former Violet Asp. of Manistique, whose husband is in charge of the tower, longed for something akin to civilization. Her wish has been borne out by the transformation of the grounds into a beautiful park. The large rock flag in the picture, serves as centerpiece for the attraction.

"It used to be lonesome up here when we first came, but it isn't any more. We have made friends with the deer and we see many of them in our yard every day. Every so often a bear comes looking for something to eat and then there are the birds and the chipmunks and the squirrels. They make themselves perfectly at home." She adds, however, "Mr. Lewis and I would like to see real folks a bit more often."

Two-Month-Old Strike
At Port Inland Settled

The Inland Lime and Stone Company strike is over.

The settlement offer, presented by company officials at a meeting Monday afternoon between them and representatives of Local 377 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, was read at a special meeting of union members at the Old Fellows hall Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The communication was joyfully received and the offer was unanimously accepted. One hour later at the company offices the new contract was signed and the two months old strike was officially declared over.

Employees, as their services are required, will start work today and the huge plant at Port Inland is expected to get into full operation in short order.

The principal provisions of the contract are:

An increase in wages of 18 1/2 cents per hour, effective May 28 and retroactive pay of 10 cents per hour to February 1, 1946, subject to the approval of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Elimination of the maintenance of union membership clause which had been ordered by a Labor Board directive in the last two agreements whereby employees who joined the union could not resign their membership without being discharged by the company.

A voluntary revocable check-off which permits employees to authorize the company to deduct their

LOCALS SCORE
AT ESCANABASteady Improvement Is Shown In Boxing
Technique

Manistique was definitely there at the boxing show at Escanaba Monday night. Manistique boxers copped a plurality of the fight honors and Manistique fight fans let it be known—most vociferously—that they were backing their boys.

Although not all of the local leather pushers gained the coveted decision, most of them did and by such wide margins that there was no disputing the victory.

Though the boxers put on a splendid show here last April, they were so much better this time that there was little comparison between the two exhibitions.

Don Dougherty was again one of the best sensations of the show, winning a neat decision over Jim Piche of Escanaba. In the Manistique show his aggressiveness was the main drawing card, but since then he has learned how to duck and to guard with his elbows.

Willard Anderson, who scored a TKO over Chuck Larson, demonstrated much aptitude in learning the tricks of the game. His straight right packed a lot of power.

Pinky Weber scored a TKO in the first round over Henri Beauchamp of Hardwood. His technique is far smoother than it was two months ago.

Sarge Mayer decided Ray Goodnough of Escanaba in what proved to be the evening's comedy match. But few blows were landed, but those that were were real ones. "He wouldn't stand still long enough to get hit," Sarge complained.

Jim Goudreau lost his decision to John Stropich, of Escanaba. Jim was in good physical form but has not done much training as that would have interfered with his track activities.

Cliff Johnson and Cliff Weber, two local boys pitted against each other when their opponents failed to put in an appearance, but up a classy bout, the decision going to Johnson.

Leonard Sharkey, up to recently of Manistique but now of Escanaba, grabbed the headlines by winning a decision over Jim Hubbard of the Soo. Hubbard was off his usual good form. The Soo training quarters was recently destroyed by fire and he said "You can't do much training on the sidewalk."

Manistique boys are soon to have definite training quarters. Much equipment has already been secured and Cliff Leonard, Dutch uncle to local boxers, is determining that Manistique will be well represented at next year's Golden Gloves finals at Milwaukee.

The report at the union meeting that the Inland company had agreed to acceptable terms was greeted with enthusiastic cheers, members present report. Many expressed themselves as "tired of laying around." Most of the employees have been engaged in other occupations, mostly woods work, but regarded this as only temporary employment and will be back at their old jobs when called.

The union has been on strike since March 20.

City Clerk Question
Covered In Opinion
Of Attorney General

Lansing, May 28. (AP)—Under the charter of the City of Manistique, the city clerk may hold also the office of city assessor if he does not hold the office of city treasurer, an attorney general's opinion said today.

Another opinion declared that juvenile courts lack the power to revoke temporary leaves of absence granted by the boys' vocational school.

THREE WANT BUS
LINE PERMITCouncil To Study City
Laws Governing
Franchises

Many matters of a widely varied nature were considered at a long drawn out session of the city council Monday evening.

Considerable time was taken up discussing with property owners residing along Elm and New Elm streets the costs incidental to the construction of sewers along those 2 thoroughfares. The proposed expense involved in this project was objected to by some of the owners present as being too high. City Manager C. D. Manson explained that the cost of such projects are much greater than they have been at any previous time. A call for a public meeting of all property owners involved will be made at a later date to determine whether or not they wish to carry on with the project.

Mark Sabuco, of Escanaba, appeared before the council to explain his proposal for a bus line to be operated in the city. Also at that time requests from two other parties for a franchise to operate bus lines were submitted. These were from Gilbert and Clement Laurion and from Jacob Weber. The council passed no judgment on any of these proposals but moved that the city manager and the city attorney draw up an ordinance covering franchises for bus lines.

Letters were read by the city manager from United States Senators Vandenberg and Ferguson, Congressman Bradley and the state department of conservation acknowledging receipt of a recent resolution passed by the council touching on the menace of lamprey to commercial fishing. The general tone of these letters was to the effect that no present approach to the problem has as yet been developed but action may be looked for soon.

A building permit was granted to the Hewitt Wholesale Grocery company for an addition to its warehouse.

The monthly report by County Sanitarian Frank Driedreik revealed that the milk supply of the city was satisfactory.

Restaurant licenses were granted.

More telephone equipment for is still in the making

If we could, we'd fill every telephone service order on our books right now. The reason we can't in this area is because we haven't enough central office equipment and outside wire and cable to go around.

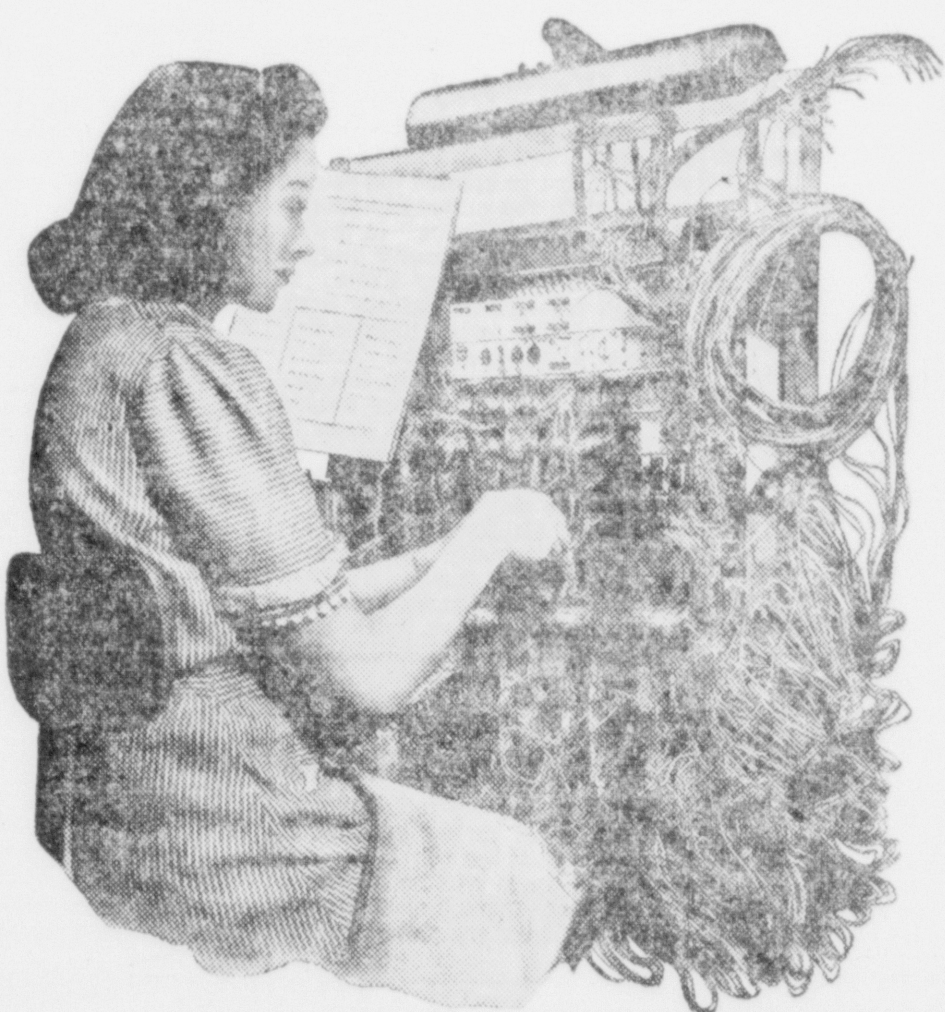

We've ordered what we need to take care of those waiting for telephones and it's now being manufactured. But this apparatus requires thousands of hours of hand work to build and to install.

Meanwhile, we're installing telephones for as many waiting applicants as we can — by overloading our present equipment. At the risk of temporarily lowering the quality of service, every line and terminal we can lay our hands on is being put to work in an all-out effort to take care of as many of your friends and neighbors as possible until we can restore service to pre-war standards.

If you are waiting for a telephone, you can be sure your order will be filled in its proper turn just as soon as possible.

INDIANS GARNER ONLY FIVE HITS

Three-Run Outburst In Ninth Seals Game For Bengals

Cleveland, May 28 (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson limited the Cleveland Indians to five hits tonight to hurl the Champion Detroit Tigers to a 6 to 1 victory before 18,473 spectators. Charley (Red) Embree was charged with the loss.

Hutchinson rapped two of Detroit's nine hits off Embree and Relief Hurler Ed Kileman as the Tigers tallied three unearned runs in the sixth and seventh frames and sealed the contest with a three-run outburst in the ninth.

Embree threw wild on Eddie Lake's bunt in the sixth, permitting the first Tiger run to score, and forced in the second tally with two straight walks. Arne Moore's single, George Kell's bunt single and Frank Hayes' error added the third Detroit marker in the seventh.

Cleveland tallied in the bottom half of the sixth stanza on a walk and Hank Edwards' triple but Detroit crossed the plate three times in the ninth on Lake's double, two singles, a walk and a wild pitch.

SHARKEY BEATS HUBBARD—Leonard Sharkey, right, defeated Jim Hubbard of the Soo, in the windup of the AAU boxing matches here Monday night. In perfect fighting trim, Sharkey won rather decisively, scoring heavily in the second and third rounds. The Indian had fought a masterful fight against the Soo boxer, U. P. welterweight champion.

Four Chicago Pitchers Nicked For 14 Hits, Including Homer

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals collected 14 hits off four Chicago Cubs pitchers today to gain a 12 to 2 victory. Duke Snider's grand slam home run highlighted an eight-run fifth inning as St. Louis tied up the current series at a game pace before a paid crowd of 15,801 persons.

Terry Moore, St. Louis center fielder, injured his right knee catching Bob Sturgeon's line in the sixth inning. He left the game, giving way to Buster Adams. A Cardinal official said the injury was not serious.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Lions club boxing committee had a bad case of jitters about nine o'clock Monday night when Leonard Sharkey, who fought the windup of the AAU boxing card here with Jimmy Hubbard, had not yet reported for his physical exam. Sharkey went to Manistique Monday afternoon and had planned to return at seven o'clock. Just when the committee had decided to enlist the aid of the state police patrol cars for a search of the highway between Escanaba and Manistique, Sharkey appeared, profuse with apologies. He had two flat tires on the return trip. The experience failed to disturb the imperturbable Indian lad, however, and he went on to score a unanimous decision over Hubbard.

Hubbard was somewhat out of condition for his match in Escanaba. The fight training center at the Soo burned down and the Soo lads are without training quarters now. Al Massey, Hubbard's stablemate, also was a little heavier than normally, weighing 134 pounds, which gave him a bulge of 19 pounds over Bob Provo. The Provo-Massey battle was a ding-dong affair and if the bout had gone another round or two, Provo probably would have taken the decision. The Escanaba boy was in perfect trim and was much stronger at the finish than Massey.

Jim Mancel, of Iron Mountain, who refereed the fight card, made a $25 contribution to the Escanaba boxing training center. It was his fee for the night, which he promptly presented to the local boxing equipment fund. It was a gesture of generosity which the local boxers sincerely appreciate. One of the judges for the fights was Gene Ronzani, popular veteran quarterback of the Chicago Bears who is a native of Iron Mountain. The other judge was Bud Herman, baseball pitcher whom Mancel secured recently from Green Bay for his Iron Mountain Rangers ball club. Herman is a boxing veteran.

If there had been a sportsmanship award at the fight matches Monday night, it would have gone to Ronald LaCount, of Iron Mountain.

White Sox Hammer Brownies, 9 to 2. St. Louis, May 28 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox picked up where they left off Monday night and hammered three St. Louis Browns pitchers for 15 hits and a 9 to 2 victory tonight. Stan Ferens was driven from the mound in a four-run first inning while Orval Grove held the Browns to five scattered hits.

BOUT WINNER IS CHALLENGED

Bob Read Of Munising Seeks Bout With Sharkey

Bob Read of Munising challenged the winner of the Sharkey-Hubbard bout Monday night at the Escanaba fight program at the junior high school gymnasium, but if the match materializes it probably will not be before fall.

Read, a newcomer at Munising who fought extensively in lower Michigan and in army camps, was introduced from the ring Monday night and issued his challenge to the winner. Sharkey won the bout from Jim Hubbard of the Soo.

The Munising battler has indicated that he plans to promote amateur boxing in Alger county with the assistance of the Munising Lions club.

Eugene Richards, of Munising, who won a decision from Joe Lequia, of Escanaba, Monday night, is a protégé of Read's. He is a squat youngster, carrying 140 pounds on a frame only 5 feet, two inches in height. Fighting from a crouching position, Richards is a difficult lad to reach.

The present inclination is to await early fall before resuming the amateur boxing program in this area. The Escanaba training center will probably be reestablished in September. Manistique also expects to reopen its fight program in September and two additions, Menominee and Iron Mountain, are expected by that time.

Howard Sullivan On Vacation From Work In Ice Show

Howard Sullivan, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sullivan, who has just completed his second season with the nationally known ice revue, "Ice Cycles," in which he is a principal, recently arrived from Santa Monica, Calif., to spend a four-month holiday here.

One of the most outstanding skaters ever developed locally, Howard has appeared in the annual ice show here every season but one. He expects to keep in condition during the summer by occasionally skating at the indoor year-around rink at the Soo.

While in California, where the show had originally been scheduled to make a movie, Sullivan met another well known Escanaba skater, Jon Flanagan, who is in the cast of the Sonja Henie troupe.

Softball Meeting Planned Friday

New Pug Divisions Considered By NBA

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Two new boxing divisions—one between lightweight and heavy and the other between welter and middleweight—may be established by the National Boxing Association.

President Abe J. Greene disclosed today that the NBA will take up adoption of these new classifications at the annual meeting in Cleveland, Sept. 9.

KNUCKLE BALL JINX TO YANKS

Crowd Of 49,917 Sits Shivering In Huge Stadium

New York, May 28 (AP)—They turned the lights on for the first time at the stadium tonight, but they shone only for the Washington Senators as the Yankees bowed to the knuckle-ball wizardry of Dutch Leonard, 2 to 1. Leonard checked the New Yorkers with six hits.

A crowd of 49,917 including 48,895 paid, sat shivering in the huge enclosure, drawn by the debut of the ultra-modern lighting system, and possibly in part by the home debut of Billy Dickey as Yankee manager.

The fans saw the Yanks take a one-run lead in the first inning as George Stinewiss doubled, went to third on Tommy Henrich's fly ball and scored on DiMaggio's blooming hit to center. Thereafter they saw the home team rolling and popping out as the veteran Leonard's knuckle wobbled and jumped most effectively.

The Nats meanwhile teed off periodically in clusters on the offerings of Clarence Marshall until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh. He was nicked for seven hits, but none of them came from the bat of Mickey Vernon, who has hit safely in 22 straight games until stopped tonight.

The Senators tied the score at one all in the second as Vernon walked and came the rest of the way home on Jeff Heath's lazy fly to left which Charley Keller couldn't quite reach and which went for a double.

They tied together three singles in the fourth to score the deciding run, Cecil Travis, Gerry Pridy and Leonard causing the damage.

Marshall was fairly steady in the other innings he worked, although on a couple of occasions bases on balls got him into jams. Robinson was sent in to hit for Wade in the seventh, and Jake Wade pitched the last two innings, setting down the Senators in 1-2-3 order.

The Yankees threatened seriously only once after the first inning. They got two men on in the fourth with two down, and Charley Keller rolled out to end the inning.

Bears Have Brisk Fielding Workout, Play On Thursday

The Escanaba Bears took advantage of a spell of warmer weather last night to get in a brisk workout in preparation for their non-league game Thursday with Kingsford Iron Kings at Kingsford. Next Sunday the Bears will meet the Iron Kings at Escanaba in a regularly scheduled Northern Wisconsin Michigan league game.

Six of the eight teams in the NWM league will be in action Thursday, although only one league game is scheduled. Crystal Falls and Iron River will make up a postponed game. Memorial Day and Niagara will play Iron Mountain in an exhibition game. Channing and Negaunee are the only league teams which have no games scheduled for the holiday.

Manager Schwalbach stressed fielding drills in last night's workout to eliminate the rash of miscues that have proved disastrous to the Bears this season.

"TUKKI" TO "TURKEY"
One explanation of how the turkey was named is that Luis de Torres, one of Columbus' crew, named the bird "tukki," Hebrew for peacock, and usage made it turkey.

AIR TOUR HERE NEXT JUNE 24

Over 50 Airplanes Are Entered Now For
U. P. Flight

More than fifty airplanes are already entered and almost one hundred are expected to take part in the Michigan Air Tour, sponsored by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, in its flight through the Upper Peninsula from June 22 through June 30. The tour's itinerary has been altered, however, and the aircraft will come to Escanaba from Newberry on Monday afternoon, June 24, remaining overnight and taking off for Menominee the following morning.

The change in the schedule was announced by Wayne J. Sheldon, tour manager for the State Department of Aeronautics, who recently made a pathfinding flight with Duley True, state aeronautics supervisor, and discovered that housing conditions would be inadequate in some parts of the Upper Peninsula on the dates originally planned.

The first schedule sent the tour from Sault Ste. Marie along the northern route, including Munising, Houghton and Ironwood and returning by the southern route, but the new itinerary will shift at Newberry and go by way of Escanaba, Menominee, Iron Mountain and Ironwood, returning by way of Munising and St. Ignace.

Beginning at Lansing on June 22 the route and schedule includes Saginaw, Bay City, Midland, the first day; Rogers City and Sault Ste. Marie, June 23; Newberry and Escanaba, June 24; Menominee, Iron Mountain, June 25; Land O'Lakes and Ironwood, June 26; Calumet, Houghton, Hancock, June 27; Munising and St. Ignace, June 28; Frankfort, Manistee, June 29; Grand Rapids and Lansing, June 30.

Honest Manistique Motorist Reports Damaging Car Here

Clifford W. Jackson, Manistique, told city police that he damaged the rear fender of a car owned by Ralph McGovern, 106 North 15th street, about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night as he backed from the curb near the Granada Gardens, 330 South Tenth street. He said he had arranged to pay for the damage to McGovern's car.
